RE: Comprehensive Evaluations for Transitioning to College

DATE: January 26, 2006

The University of Georgia Regents Center for Learning Disorders is expanding its services to provide comprehensive evaluations for high school students transitioning to college who are in need of current accommodation documentation. With over 25 years of experience offering such evaluations, the University of Georgia staff will provide diagnostic and accommodation information tailored to students' academic needs at the college level. Support for specific testing and instructional accommodations are provided with each evaluation. Assistive technology recommendations are central to the suggestions provided to the student.

The cost of the comprehensive evaluation is $500. The estimated value of this evaluation is approximately $2,000.
